

TVB New Media Group

TVB, the leading TV station in Hong Kong and the world's number one distributor of Chinese Programme, marks the successful transformation of TVB from a traditional television station to a company amalgamating three different platforms - broadcast TV, online TV and social media. TVB New Media Group mainly responsible for the technical development of online TV and social media.

Software Developer / Analyst (Video and Streaming Technology)

Responsibilities

- Development and research for new application / services
- Development and maintenance on Content Delivery Network (CDN)
- Development and maintenance on Digital Right Management (DRM) system
- Can involve both client side (mobile/STB/browser) and server side development
- Emerging technology study and prototype development

Requirement

- Degree/Master/PhD in Computer Science, Electronic Engineering, Information Engineering or related disciplines
- Able to work individually and in a team
- Good analytical and troubleshooting skills, self-motivated, team work oriented and independent
- With programming experience in Java
- Experience on C, PHP and/or Python development is an advantage
- Experience in Android/iOS application development, PHP is an advantage
- Fast learner with passion on video and streaming technologies
- Good command of English and Mandarin is a plus.

Please send the application, with details of your qualifications and experience, expected salary and a contact telephone number to Dr. Angus Siu via email (angus.siu@tvb.com).